ARMY AND NAVY NEWS.

[FROM THE TRIBUNE BUREAU.] Washington, July 21.

ARTILLERY MEN MOVED.—There will be issued from the War Department to-morrow a long order changing the station of nearly two hundred officers of the artillery corps, many of them at posts in the neighborhood of New-York. The high ranking officers who are affected by the order will change stations as follows: Colonel John M. K. Davis, from Fort H. G. Wright, New-York, to Fort Banks, Massachusetts; to join; to command artillery district of Boston. Lieutenant Colonel William E. Birkhimer, from San Francisco to Fort Monroe E. Birkhimer, from San Francisco to Fort Monroe, Virginia; to join. Lieutenant Colonel John A. Lundeen, from Fort Monroe, Virgina, to Fort Washington. Maryiand; to join; to command artillery district of the Potomac. Lieutenant Colonel Garland N. Whistler, from Fort Monroe, Virginia, to Fort H. G. Wright, New-York; to join; to command the artillery district of New-London. Major William B. Homer, from Fort Washington, Maryland, to Fort Warren, Missachusetts; to join. Major Frederick March, from Fort Strong, Massachusetts, to Fort Monto, New-Jersey; to join. Major Clarence P. Townsley, from Fort Monroe, Virginia, to Fort Strong, Massachusetts; to join upon being relieved from duty atm Fort Monroe, Virginia.

If any of the above named officers have been granted leave of absence, it is not intended that they shall join their new stations until the expiration thereof.

NO FIRELESS STOVES WANTED .- The army subsistence officers, including Commissary General Weston, have been in New-York witnessing tests at the cooking school there with so-called fireless cooking as a means of preparing food for the army in garrison and in the field. General Weston says that he does not take special interest in the process, except so far as it offers a chance of reduction in the expenditure for fuel at army garprocess, except so far as it offers a chance of reduction in the expenditure for fuel at army gartisons. It is evident to the experts in army subsistence that the system will be of little value as a means of preparing food for troops in the field in time of war, of itself an important subject, in which the army commissaries are intensely interested. It is easy enough, they say, to prepare food for troops in garrison, but with all its merits fireless cooking requires a stove and fuel, and the problem comes down finally to the relief of the bourden of transportation by and for the troops in the field moving from place to place. In the experiments in New-York General Weston and his associates in the subsistence department were greatly impressed with the success of the method, as far as it went. They took dinner where the food was prepared in this way, and found that the meats retained their flavor and were very tender, although they had been only partitany cooked over a fire, the remainder of the process being performed after the food was transferred to the receptacles where the heat is retained, with slight diminution of temperature. It is believed that the first fire of the day could prepare the breakfast and dinner, and this, of course, has its advantages in household economics, in the labor and fuel saved, but the commissary officers say that its value must be limited mecessarity, and is not likely to include military cooking in time of war.

GIFTS TO SHIPS-Captain W. J. Barnette commanding the Kentucky, this week sub-mitted copies of correspondence between himself and the officials of the city of Newport, Ky., in regard to a loving cup presented to the ship by the school children of that town. He suggested as a return gift to the children a picture of the as a return gift to the children a picture of the ship and of the officers and crew, and made the proposition also that Congress be asked to authorize pictures of ships named after States to be hung in the main hall of each school building of each State. Upon this suggestion Acting Secretary Darling has made this comment:

"It is gratifying to the department to be informed of the good will existing between the commanding officer of the Kentucky and the citizens of that State, as expressed in the presentation of a loving cup to the battleship by the school children of Newport, and by the general tenor of the correspondence. However, the suggestion of the commanding officer of the Kentucky that Congress authorize and direct that large pictures of ships named after States shall be hung in the main hall name of the which is the suggestion of the main hall name after States shall be hung in the main hall named after State in the control of each school building of such State is one which in the opinion of the department, involves a question which should be initiated by the States rathe than by the Navy Department, and particularly so in view of the large expenditures now being made in the material upbuilding of the navy."

DIRECTION OF WIRELESS .- Naval experts in wireless telegraphy are greatly interested in advices which have come from abroad, especially from scientists in Germany and Italy, respecting the discovery of the means of transmitting mes-sages in a given direction without having the communicating waves distributed generally in all di-rections. One of the difficulties in wireless telegraphy has been the inability to control the commuraphy has been the inability to control the communication, and any discovery along that line will be of great importance. The Navy Department has not as yet received official advices on the subject, except in regard to experiments which have been made by the Italians, on the suggestion of Professor Arton, of that country. As seen as definite information is received by the United States there will be a test in the same line of work on board our own ships.

MURDER IN AN ASYLUM.

Insane Woman Kills Roommate, and Attacks Nurse.

Traverse City, Mich., July 21.-Mrs. Mary Larkins, a patient at the State Insane Asylum here, was murdered early to-day by Mrs. Ernestine Berge, another patient, while the attendant was absent from the room. When Miss Fenton, the nurse, returned she found Mrs. Larkins with her head crushed from blows inflicted with a granite fron vessel. Mrs. Larkins died in two hours. Both women had suicidal mania.

Patients with suicidal mania room together to keep watch of each other. Mrs. Berge, who had never shown any homicidal tendencies, was Mrs. Larkins's roommate. Both came to the asylum on July 14. When the nurse attempted to enter the room, Mrs. Berge met her at the door and tried to brain her. The help of two other nurses was required to overcome the mur-

To-day Mrs. Berge is dazed, at one time seeming to know nothing of the murder and the next moment saying she had had a nightmare and thought a man was trying to kill her and that she had attempted to defend herself.

MILKMEN DRIVE FAST.

Hitch Trotters to Their Wagons and Distance Inspectors. Dr. John P. Moore, sanitary inspector of the Borough of Queens, wishes to borrow a fast horse to use in his fight for pure milk in that borough. Dr. Moore has the use of a horse belonging to the Department of Health, but the animal is not speedy enough to overtake milkmen who are under suspicion. The department horse is a good traveller, but many of the dairymen in Queens own fast horses, and since the crusade began some of them are hitching their trotters to the milk wagons. In one case in particular, a trotter distanced the department horse in a hot chase of about three Detective Clancy and Milk Inspector Clark are
